

Globaljet puts ACJ on show in Sao Paulo

Swiss charter operator Globaljet flew its Airbus ACJ318 to Sao Paulo in Brazil recently to exhibit the aircraft on behalf of the manufacturer at the LABACE show. Configured for 19 passengers, the aircraft features a private office that converts to a bedroom and has club seating in several spacious lounge areas. Giovanni Luciulli, aircraft sales director of Globaljet (right), is pictured here at the show with Francois Chazelle, vp commercial of Airbus Corporate Jets.

This was the first time that Airbus had exhibited the Globaljet aircraft, which was serenaded by a Batucada samba band of local underprivileged children during the event.