For people who know what they want, and are accustomed to getting it, Global Jet is not a luxury. The quality of service is geared entirely towards this clientele, which has forged the reputation of this company since it was founded in 2000, and made Global Jet an undisputed leader in business aviation.

The higher your expectations, the more they will go out of their way to meet them, whether this means chartering you a flight, helping you purchase or sell an aircraft, managing or designing your jet. Global Jet's head office is located in Geneva, but it also has sales representations in Paris, Moscow, Beijing and Muscat.

Throughout the world, the team of over 500 aviation specialists assists you and anticipates your needs. With their particularly wide range of aircraft, they are able to meet all your requirements in terms of capacity, facilities and range. There's no limit on service before, during and after the flight.

With a fleet of more than 60 aircraft, Global Jet is one of the leaders on the European private jets market. Specialized in managing and operating aircraft, the company focuses on wide body aircraft (such as Airbus and Boeing Business Jets) and ultra-long range jets such as Global Express/XRS/5000, Gulfstream 550/500 and Falcon 7X/900/2000. Mid-size and smaller cabins are also an important part of our fleet with aircraft like Legacy 600, Challenger 604, Learjet 45XR and Citation CJ2.

Some people do not need to ask, they are accustomed to having their needs met. At Global Jet, they offer their exceptional clientele an exceptional experience, comparable to that offered in the world's top luxury hotels. The expertise, diligence and discretion of their crews contribute greatly to this.

Their flight attendants are trained to the top Swiss hotel schools' standards, offering five-star service far beyond mere comfort. They customize your flight experience, taking care of every little detail from a peaceful, refined, tailored atmosphere on board to quality fresh products selected from our best suppliers. They pay particular attention to your likes and preferences. With each journey, you will enjoy the pleasure of finding everything you like, need, and which defines you.

Global Jet is delighted to announce the arrival in its fleet of two new business jets: a 2012 Hawker 900XP and a 2013 Gulfstream G550. Fully available for charter, the 2012 Hawker 900XP will be based between Moscow and Western Europe. Able to accommodate 8 passengers, the aircraft boasts a spacious and comfortable cabin as well as a complete entertainment system.

About the 2013 Gulfstream G550, this state-of-the-art aircraft features all the latest technologies: high-speed internet and ipad control stations, massage seats, WiFi, electronic tables... Able to accommodate 15 passengers, this aircraft is the third G550 amongst the Global Jet Charter fleet. Available for charter, this Europe-based plane is the epitome of comfort, luxury and technology. With amazing performances, this aircraft is able to fly longer and further than any other plane of our fleet. "Being able to offer this aircraft is a great advantage for us. This kind of long-haul planes is very much appreciated by our clientele. Also, having a 2013 aircraft in our fleet is a plus, since most of our customers tend to fly on newer airplanes," says Léonard Bertholet, Global Jet Charter Sales Director.
