

Global Jet makes strides into Spain

Swiss-headquartered Global Jet is developing its Spanish and South American client base by positioning Oscar Barnes in Spain as its representative. "I have made frequent visits to Spain this year," says VP of business development Bjorn Naberhuis. "I was impressed by the large professional corporations, infrastructure and the incredibly successful entrepreneurs there. Spain is an important part of Europe with a bridge to South America. The fact that the G650 is flying there shows that this market is ready for the future."

The operator is looking to act as a one-stop-shop for Spain, providing charter, management and sub-contracting as a broker and for aircraft sales.
