AT GLOBAL JET, WE SEE OURSELVES AS A BENTLEY
OF THE AIR - BESPOKE, EXCLUSIVE AND ACKNOWLEDGED AS THE BEST OF ITS KIND

Bentley owners know that there are cars, and then there are Bentleys. As one famous Bentley owner noted, "Once you've bought a Bentley, you don't really go back." In the language of aviation, he means look to the sky and gain the highest altitude. Then stay there and accept nothing less!

In our view that means becoming a partner – we don't really use the term customer – of Global Jet, the world's leading, Geneva-based private aviation company operating arguably the finest fleet of private jets, with further offices in Paris, Monaco, Moscow and Beijing.

Let's be really clear about what this means. We are a dedicated business aviation operator, with a fleet of 65 private jets. Our service takes you higher than you've flown before. You'll be hosted by crew qualified far beyond normal requirements, and flown by the best pilots. You, your families and your business partners and guests, will be astonished at the quality of the service we offer. Compare it not to a five-star hotel, of which there are today so many, but to a legendary palace. That is the level of catering and service you will receive aboard our private jets.

In other words, our service levels are stratospheric, and typically performed at altitudes and speeds far above the commercial sector. We embody a glamorous ambience, the utmost in refinement, and sophistication far exceeding all recognised industry benchmarks.

It's all down to Swiss service from a Geneva base, with a truly global team. Our charter solution is the finest expression of what we offer, because like the proverbial Bentley – one of our partners, incidentally – it beguiles those who are lucky enough to taste it. They don't go back.

These days, the private aviation market has become complex. What we have achieved at Global Jet is to offer you the best of all worlds: direct access to a wide-ranging fleet that we control 100 per cent, but on a bespoke, charter basis that leaves you with a completely free hand and no financial overheads or unnecessary paperwork.

FOR PEOPLE WHO KNOW WHAT THEY WANT AND GET IT, GLOBAL JET IS WHERE THEY HEAD, AND IT IS WHERE THEY STAY. THEY TEND TO SEE OUR SERVICE NOT AS A LUXURY AT ALL, BUT SIMPLY THE BEST WAY TO MEET THEIR GLOBALISED TRAVEL NEEDS

Of course, charter is not the only thing we offer. If you are the owner of a private jet, we delight in managing and operating it for you, completely removing all the headaches. If you should like to offer it for charter as well, we can, of course, make that happen too. Once again, our aircraft management business stands out. We pride ourselves on a completely transparent proposition, with fixed monthly fees and no other hidden costs.

We also offer a complete sales and acquisitions service. That doesn't mean advice; it means that if you want us to, we can own the A to Z of a transaction whether you are buyer or seller (and very often both at once).

Should you be in need of design and completion services, we extend to you Pegasus Design, an independent design consultancy specialising in private aviation. Both exteriors and interiors are treated as completely bespoke situations. Like jewels, we polish them to your exact specification. In this quest we leave no stone unturned. For every specific requirement, a technical and artistic solution can be found. A team of professionals takes you through every step of the process, from the initial drawings to delivery, with meticulous attention to details.

We haven't even discussed the hardware we already manage, totalling 65 jets. Our fleet is comprised of some of the most amazing aircraft ever to grace the skies, yet all of them are tailored to a particular requirement, so that you are not left cracking nuts with the proverbial sledgehammer. For short haul destinations and up to six passengers, you might consider a Cessna Citation. For transcontinental travel with a party of up to 19, we offer the Airbus A319 – not, of course, to be confused with its commercial sibling.

In between, we have a wide range of the finest and fastest private jets the world has to offer, from renowned constructors such as Boeing, Bombardier, Gulfstream, Dassault, Embraer and Beechcraft. Rather than describe them here, we invite you to enter our website where you can not only look around in 360 degrees, but use the configurator to see exactly how day and night measure up, with seating and sleeping options made plain as you slide the cursor over the plan.

Once our partners have embarked, they tend not to go anywhere else. For people who know what they want and get it, Global Jet is where they head, and it is where they stay. They tend to see our service not as a luxury at all, but simply the best way to meet their globalised travel needs. They don't go back.

That's because the higher your expectations, the more we will go out of our way to meet them, whether in charter, aircraft management, sales and acquisitions or design and completion. **✪
